Bucking the trend is exactly what is happening here, and what a glorious result it is. The builder and vendor of this property has been mastering his craft over the years and this is his best to date. 67 Davis is a blend of coastal and industrial, it is rich with authenticity. The builder likes to retain the raw character of the home and inject it with ultra modern materials and techniques like no other in the area. Like his previous projects near by, this property will be sold immediately.
